

Lunch and a Conversation: A look into beef cattle rations

February 16, 2018

Noon-1 p.m.

Ashland Library

604 Main St.

Ashland, KS 67831

In the Starbuck Wildfire, we lost a massive amount of rangeland in the spring of last year and now we have not had any significant moisture since October, creating a difficult situation for producers with the calving season right around the corner.

To help with this issue, K-State Research and Extension- Clark County, present a lunch and conversation: A look into beef cattle rations, sponsored by KSRE, Gardiner Angus Ranch and Ashland Vet Center . This discussion, lead by KSRE Extension Beef Cattle Specialist, Justin Waggoner, will focus on developing rations and other options to extend your rangeland and wheat pasture . So come have lunch and see what might work for you.

Specialist at the Event

Justin Waggoner, Ph.D.

K-State Extension Beef Cattle Specialist

K-STATE
Research and Extension

Clark County

Topics for Discussion

- What is the state of the rangeland and wheat pasture?
- What feedstuffs do you have available?
- What feedstuffs could be used to stretch your resources or build a ration that would maintain your cows in the months to come?

To RSVP for the Lunch

Call the K-State Research and Extension-Clark County office at 620-635-2811 by Feb. 9th for a headcount.

Kansas State University is committed to making its services, activities and programs accessible to all participants. If you have special requirements due to a physical, vision, or hearing disability, contact Brice Gibson, 6206352811

Kansas State University Agricultural Experiment Station and Cooperative Extension Service
K-State Research and Extension is an equal opportunity provider and employer.