Minneola, KS

In the past year, we have seen many different weather patterns, market volatility, weed resistance, and insect issues. That for one reason or another affect decisions that producers make to make their harvest as profitable as possible.

K-State Research and Extension- Clark County is presenting an insecticide meeting to help aid producers in decisions about what insecticide to use and is most cost efficient.

Insects that will be covered

- Sugar Cane Aphid
- Wheat Curl Mite
- Brown Wheat Mite
- Corn Root Worm

Speaker

Dr. Sarah Zukoff

Southwest Area Entomologist
